

First City Built Street Railroad In United States is Now Complete

In the center of the picture is shown Geary st. car on first journey from ferry to beach crossing the tracks of the United Railroad in the heart of the business section. One of the hardest stands the corporation made in its efforts to block the municipal road was to prevent the people's line from crossing the corporation road's tracks.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—The Geary st. municipal railroad is finished. It is now in operation from the ferry to the beach—eight miles. The people of San Francisco are riding on their own railroad, which they built themselves having at last broken the grip of the United Railroads, that gigantic corporation that had a monopoly on the street railroads of the city. It was a long, hard, desperate fight, for Big Business met them at every turn with chicanery, artifice and trickery and tried by every means known to crafty attorneys to frustrate the people's plans in the courts and in the streets.

Mayor Rolph said when he started the first car on its maiden trip from the ferry to the beach: "We have built the Geary st. road within the amount of money voted for its construction—$2,020,000—and have a surplus. This is the first municipality built railroad in the United States. Enemies of the road predicted that it would be a failure; that it would not pay. It paid when only a part of its equipment was in operation. Now, with the complete road in operation, can the people of this or any other city ask a better demonstration of success than to see the cars crowded with passengers paying their fares to the municipality instead of to a privately owned corporation?"

JULY SET APART FOR MEDITATION

Custom Instituted by Pope Pius IX. in Gratitude—Views of Cardinal Logue on Total Abstinence.

The following are the saints' days for the coming week: Sunday, July 6, Sexagesima, feast of St. Ely, seventh century; Monday, July 7, Benedict XI, pope, 1304; Tuesday, July 8, Elizabeth, queen of Portugal, 1336; Wednesday, July 9, Everilda of England, virgin, seventh century; Thursday, July 10, Seven brothers, martyrs, second century; Friday, July 11, Secundus, virgin and martyr, third century; Saturday, July 12, John Gualbert, abbot, 1073.

The month of July is set apart by the church as a time for special meditation upon and devotion to the precious blood of our Divine Savior, which was shed for our redemption. The first Sunday in July is dedicated as the feast of the Precious Blood, and was instituted by Pope Pius IX. in commemoration of the gratitude of the church for the holy father's return to Rome from exile, after the revolution of 1848, and it has been observed as one of the great festivals of the universal church ever since.—Catholic News Bureau.

This is what Cardinal Logue thinks of the importance of total abstinence for Irishmen: "If I were asked to select one society from the various sodalities in the parish, and were confined to one, the society which I would prefer to retain would be the Total Abstinence association. My reason for making that choice would be because, on the one hand, most, if not all the evils of society are traceable to excess in intoxicating drink, and on the other hand, all the comforts of life and all that is good, are associated with temperance."

PROMISE RELIEF FROM HEAT WAVE

Cooler During First Part of the Week Says Washington Weather Man—Warmer in West.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Relief from the heat wave was promised Sunday in the weather bureau's weekly bulletin. It said:

"Present pressure distribution over the northern hemisphere indicates that unseasonably high temperatures need not be expected during the coming week. It will be cool during the first part of the week over the eastern portion of the country, followed by some rise in temperature later but not to unusual extremes. In the west it will be warmer Monday and Tuesday, though not decidedly so and some moderation may be expected after the middle of the week.

"High pressure with generally fair weather will prevail during the week over the greater portion of the country. A moderate disturbance is now off the extreme north Pacific coast, but its eastward movement will probably not be attended by more than local showers over the northwest during the early portion of the week and possibly over the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys about the middle of the week.

"There are no present indications of a West Indian disturbance."

At least four seek the grand treasurer. They are Charles A. White, past exalted ruler of the Chicago lodge; William A. Evans of St. Joseph, Mo.; E. J. Brennan of Dennison, Tex., and George D. Locke of Rogers, Ark.

FOUR DROWN IN TEN HOUR FIGHT

Hurricane Strikes Yacht on Lake Ontario and Men Put Up Vain Struggle.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 7.—Two Rochester men who swam to shore from the wreckage of a sail boat on Lake Ontario near Wolcott Sunday afternoon told of the drowning of four companions—all residents of this city, after a ten-hour fight against death. The dead are Frank Salzer, vice president and superintendent of a shoe company; Edward Keefe, painter; Alexander T. Lemon and Frank McCulloch.

The survivors, Peter A. Blattner and Cornelius Coughlin, say the party was returning from a cruise to Oswego. About 3 o'clock Sunday morning a hurricane struck their yacht, a 30-footer, breaking the mast and causing the boat to capsize. The men were unable to right it and could only hang on and wait for dawn. Later a steamer passed near them but their cries were unheard.

WARRANT FOR FORGER. LEBANON, O., July 7.—A warrant charging forgery was issued here for Floyd Clemens, purporting to be from Rochester, Ind. The Citizens' National bank of this city, swore to the warrant. It accuses Clemens of trimming three checks through bogus checks for $5,700. The alleged forgery was discovered by the cashier of a Rochester bank, when he was asked if he had certified a check passed on the bank here.

These women, Zapata's mother, his wife, his sister and his three sisters-in-law. The women were taken prisoners at Villa Ayala, in the state of Morelos, Zapata's old home. They were brought here and lodged in the barracks. They are authority for the statement that Orozco has not been executed as several times reported.

Gossip Concerning Tariff, Congress and Lobby Probe

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Republican members of the senate have been quietly preparing for some weeks for the attack that is to be made on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill when it gets back into the senate late this week. While a program of tariff policy has not been laid out by the republicans, leading representatives of the party in the senate have prepared amendments, substitute amendments and protection arguments, directed at many of the important sections of the democratic bill.

Sen. Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, who will bring the bill in from the committee with the seal of democratic caucus approval upon it, estimates that five weeks will be enough to wind up general debate and discussion of the measure, and to secure a vote on its final passage. Prominent republican senators doubt whether the tariff can be disposed of in the senate in that time.

The bill has been in the democratic caucus for more than two weeks. While the party members were practically agreed upon the general scope of tariff revision before the caucus began, it has taken much longer than had been expected to smooth over debated questions and to bring about an agreement on tariff rates, income tax and other features carried in the big bill.

Still Lack Harmony. The democrats are not yet in complete harmony over the measure because of the insistence of some western and southern states that the free sugar and free wool plans of the administration be modified. An attempt is to be made late Monday to put a binding rule through the caucus, pledging every democrat to support amendments in the senate and to support the bill in its entirety. Pro-nounced opposition to this plan exists within the party ranks.

Even though the democrats may adopt the unit rule and attempt to stamp out all opposition to the bill that might come from sugar and wool districts, the republican leaders will use every effort on the floor to break the strength of the democratic ranks. Advocates of protective duties on these articles, and on many others that have been greatly reduced by the democratic bill, will seek to muster strength from the sugar and wool states to effect desired changes.

The views of the republican attitude are shown in the work that has been done by Sen. Smoot of Utah and Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin, in preparation for the approaching fight in the senate.

Sen. Smoot has prepared amendments to scores of democratic items and will offer a complete substitute for the democratic wool tariff plan. His proposal will be for a substantial reduction in raw wool and on manufactured goods, but on such a basis that reasonable protection will be retained.

La Follette at Work. Sen. La Follette has been at work for weeks with the aid of experts preparing substitute schedules for many sections of the Underwood-Simmons bill. He also has again attacked the woolen and cotton schedules and is prepared to make a long and stubborn fight, in the effort to rally republicans, progressives and some democrats to the support of a woolen tariff that will be much below the present rates but will reserve protection. It is expected, however, that the La Follette proposal will suggest much lower rates than those to be made by Sen. Smoot.

The Lobby Probe. Other republican senators have been working upon various features of the tariff revision, and will insist upon discussing at length and from every angle reductions they think threaten the life of American industries. It is believed the tariff debate, even should it start the first of next week, as the democratic leaders now expect, will not be concluded in the senate before the last weeks of August.

Should the house succeed Wednesday in adopting the resolution debated in that body yesterday, the Mulhall investigation will be a double-barrelled affair, with committees working upon it at each end of the capital. The senate committee will dispose of witnesses connected with Wall st. activities, and with the activity in Washington in support of tariff duties on sugar and wool, before taking up the Mulhall charges.

CUMMINS TO AIM BILL AT LOBBY WORK

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Sen. Cummins of Iowa, a member of the senate lobby investigating committee, will introduce a bill designed to prevent many of the practices disclosed during the investigation. The measure is aimed especially at the impersonation of members of congress or attempts to influence legislation improperly. Imprisonment, heavy fines or both would be imposed for such offenses.

WOMAN'S BURNS ARE FATAL

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., July 7.—Mrs. Isaac Nuttle, who was burned when she poured coal oil on the fire in the kitchen stove, died from her injuries. It is believed gasoline had been given her instead of coal oil by a peddler when her oil can was recently filled. The woman lost $100 and a certificate of deposit for $100 which were in her dress. She is survived by a husband.
